THE CARPENTERS SAY "YES;" PRINTERS AN EMPHATIC "NO"

Apparent Split Among Unionists Regarding Chautauqua Being Placed on "Unfair List"—Printers Will Go to Central Labor Body With the Matter.

Into quite a complex situation has developed the boycott instituted against the Chautauqua association by the unions of the city. The union carpenters, who had the entertainment placed on the "unfair list" have announced that everything has been settled satisfactorily, or at least a committee representing that organization has done so, while the Typographical Union held a special session yesterday afternoon and declared that "everything has not been settled satisfactorily," and that the Chautauqua will be continued on the "unfair list," so far as the printers are concerned. By this it will be seen that the unions are having a falling out among themselves over the matter, and the action of the Central Labor Union tomorrow night will determine whether the Chautauqua is on the unfair list or whether it is not.

The carpenters' union held a meeting last night, at which a committee from the printers' union made a statement, but after a several hours session, it was announced by the carpenters that they had nothing to give out, which is taken to mean that the action of their committee was not ratified, or else that no settlement had been made by the meeting.

Andy Nieman is the contractor to whom the Chautauqua people awarded the contract for constructing the auditorium, which is now being built at the park, and in which the Chautauqua will be held. Contractor Nieman will not sign up the new scale of wages increasing the pay of the carpenters, and hence none of the union men will work for him, and are out on strike. The auditorium is being built by non-union labor. The union carpenters tried to get the Chautauqua people to take the contract away from Mr. Nieman, or to compel him to employ union men on the structure. This was refused, and the carpenters then had the Central Labor council last week to place the Chautauqua on the "unfair list," which means that members of unions and their families and friends will not patronize the Chautauqua, or attend any of its features.

Yesterday the Chautauqua people held a meeting with a delegation of union carpenters, and explained to the latter that the contract for the auditorium had been awarded to Mr. Nieman long before the carpenters and contractors got into any controversy regarding the new schedule of wages, and that the Chautauqua people did not know any controversy was coming up, else the contract would not have been awarded. The Chautauqua delegation promised that any work done by them in future would be with union mechanics, and signed an agreement to this effect, and this satisfying the committee representing the carpenters, they decided to take the Chautauqua off the "unfair list," and permit everyone to patronize it.

They say, through the committee, that the publication of the matter yesterday was unauthorized, claiming that a proviso was made verbally, that the agreement should be ratified by the Central Labor Union and the Typographical Union before becoming effective. In the agreement the carpenters had a provision that all printing for the Chautauqua should bear the Typographical Union label, and therefore the agreement had to be ratified by the latter body.

The union printers differ with the carpenters, and held a special session yesterday afternoon, during which they voted to continue the Chautauqua on the "unfair list," the printers contending that the Chautauqua people did not award the contract to Mr. Nieman until only a few hours before the union carpenters went on a strike, because the contractors, including Mr. Nieman, would not sign the new schedule increasing the carpenters' pay only a few cents an hour.

The printers contend that the Chautauqua people knew of the coming trouble between contractors and union carpenters, and that if the Chautauqua association had desired union labor on the building, or had been friendly to union labor, they could have so specified in the contract.

The printers further claim that the committee from the carpenters had no authority to settle the matter, inasmuch as the Chautauqua was put on the "unfair list" by the Central Labor union, which consists of delegates, from forty-seven different unions of the city, and hence that the Central body is the only authority which can remove the ban.

In taking this action, the printers instructed their delegates to the Central body to bitterly oppose the Chautauqua being taken off the unfair list when the question comes before that body tomorrow night. In addition, the Typographical union increased the committee they had already appointed to take the matter in hand.

It is confidently predicted by the members of the Typographical union that the Central Body will refuse to remove the ban from the Chautauqua until some more desirable settlement has been made, and a warm debate on the question is likely. The failure of the carpenters to definitely endorse or reject the action of the committee at last evening's session leaves the matter in still an unsettled condition, and only the action of the Central body, which all the organizations will abide by, will settle the matter finally.

The printers are still supporting the carpenters in their controversy, however, and will today issue a public statement, setting forth their position in the matter.

It is said that the union musicians have canceled their contract to furnish music for the Chautauqua, and that the management then sought to employ colored musicians, but were met with the statement that these, too, were organized.

CONTRACTOR KATTERJOHN TO ENJOIN SCHOOL TRUSTEES

CLAIMS THAT OTHER BIDS WERE ALLOWED TO COME IN AFTER NOON YESTERDAY, AND HE THEREBY KEPT OUT OF GETTING BOTH NEW BUILDING CONTRACTS—THE TEACHERS ELECTED LAST NIGHT, AND ALL OLD ONES APPLYING WERE RE-ELECTED, WHILE SEVEN NEW ONES WERE CHOSEN—OTHER BUSINESS.

It looks as if the school board has gotten itself into trouble as regards awarding the contracts last evening for the new buildings to be constructed, as Contractor George Katterjohn, one of the bidders, notified the trustees that he would enjoin them from awarding the contracts to Contractors William Lockwood and George Weikel, because the two latter did not have their bids in by noon yesterday, that hour being the time advertised, and after which no bids were to be received. With the Weikel and Lockwood bids out of the way Contractor Katterjohn would get the contracts to erect both buildings, as only the proposals of himself and Contractors Brame and Coles were placed in the hands of the trustees before noon yesterday, and his figure was lower than Coles and the Twelfth and Jackson street building, while Brame bid only on the McKinley building, and Katterjohn did not.

When the matter of awarding the contracts was taken up last night Mr. Katterjohn informed the trustees that the advertisement published in all the newspapers for the trustees, and signed by President An-

SUE COMPANY FOR $1,100

J. W. HOLLAND CLAIMS THAT FROM THE PADUCAH TRACTION COMPANY.

LIDA AMOSS SUES W. H. AMOSS FOR DIVORCE

THE LIVINGSTON CASE PASSED UP UNIL RULE DAY AT MEMPHIS.

Referee Bagby of Bankruptcy Court Goes to Benton in Merchantile Company's Case.

J. W. Holland filed suit yesterday in the circuit court for $1,100 damages, against the Paducah Traction company for injuries received by himself and his horse. Holland was driving up North Twelfth street several months ago when a street car crashed into his buggy, knocked him out, fractured his shoulder, caused bad bruises to the body, injured the horse, and damaged the rig.

Lida Amoss filed suit for divorce against her husband, W. M. Amoss. They married at Metropolis April 8, 1901, and she claims he has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment, and unjustly attacks her character. She wants the divorce and restoration to her maiden name of Lida Hopkins.

Action is Dismissed.

At request of the plaintiff the court dismissed without prejudice the suit of the Hotel and Restaurant Employee's International Alliance, and Bartender's International League of America against the United States Fidelity and Guarantee company. As court came to a close last Saturday the judge, on making this order of dismissal yesterday, recorded it as of last week when his term came to a close.

Sherman Mills, a bartender, was treasurer of the local bartender's union, and stepped out. The international under which his local union worked, sued Mills' bondsmen, for several hundred dollars the international claimed that Mills had carried away with him. The money belonged to the bartender's union here.

Case Was Passed Up.

Hon. Hal S. Corbett and his client Mr. Abe Livingston did not go to Memphis Sunday, having been telegraphed that the injunction suit was passed by the court over until the next rule day. The suit is the one where the Milwaukee firm desires to restrain Mr. Livingston from labeling his whiskey "The Livingston." The Milwaukee firm claims to have this name of brand registered and thereby legally protected, while Mr. Livingston claims it is his surname, therefore he is entitled to use it.

Bankrupt Court.

Referee E. W. Bagby of the bankruptcy court goes to Benton today to transact some business connected with the Benton Merchantile company, which was forced into bankruptcy by creditors.

In the E. Rehkopf Saddlery company bankruptcy proceeding the referee yesterday allowed several thousand dollars priority claims, while $9,000 of the lien claims are amended, and objected to by the trustee. The referee will hear the objections at a date to be fixed shortly by him. Lawyer Eaton was allowed $415 atorney fees in the W. D. Melton bankruptcy case. He wanted $600, but the referee cut it down to $415 and directed the attorney to pay out of the allowance the personal expenses he incurred by making several trips in the case out of the city.

The referee set June 18 as the time for the first meeting of the creditors in the case of Mrs. Byrne Clark of Smithland, who filed a petition in bankruptcy last week. The session will be held in Smithland, and a trustee selected by the creditors to look after the property while the bankrupt's business is being wound up. June 15 was named as the date for the first meeting of the creditors in the Frank Parham case, a trustee to be chosen for this estate, at that gathering.

ARMY WORMS ATTACK AND DEMOLISH OAT FIELD.

Gleason, Tenn., June 4.—Mr. John Freeman, a well-known farmer of this place, was very much mortified upon going to his river farm to find himself the loser of a fine field of oats. A vast multitude of army worms suddenly took possession one day last week, and in five days almost every straw was cut down. These little intruders are of a dark brown color and vary in size from one-half to one and a half inches. A bunch of mule colts that were grazing in the field at the time were driven out by these objectionable creatures and took refuge in a neck of woods, fearing to venture across the field to a nearby pond to quench their thirst. Since devouring the crop the little meddants have taken to the woods at the edge of the field, and several are seen crawling on the topmost rail of the fence as if in search of another victim. People in that section fear the destruction of their crops.

Colonel Joseph E. Potter, Mr. Z. H. Bryant and others will return the last of this week from Richmond, Va., where they attended the Confederate Veteran's reunion.

Beyer, O. G. Stephan and Ella Clarke.

A colored couple getting license was W. S. Bledsoe and Parilee Wright.

Filed Bankrupt's Petition.
Wm. W. Young, of Princeton, filed a petition in bankruptcy yesterday, giving $155.56 liabilities, and no assets except those exempted him by law.

COUNCIL REJECTS OFFER OF TENNESSEE 'PHONE COMPANY

Attorney Corbett, for City, Advises Against Franchise Compromise, Saying City Can Win—Case Will Now Go to Court for Final Settlement.

At a meeting of the committee of the whole of the city council, called for the purpose of considering a proposition from the East Tennessee Telephone & Telegraph company, last night, Mayor Yeiser was elected chairman and George Lehnard secretary.

Hon. Hal S. Corbett, of counsel for the city in a suit pending between the telephone company and the city, made a statement to the committee in substance as follows: That he thought the telephone people would agree to a settlement of the injunction suit against the city on favorable terms and accept a new franchise with a rate restriction acceptable to the council and their subscribers. He further said that he believed the outcome of pending litigation would be favorable to the city and therefore the whole matter simply addressed itself to the sound business discretion of the councilmen. In this statement James Campbell, Jr., city solicitor, concurred, but declined to advise the council how to act, simply stating that he held himself in readiness to obey any instructions given by the city authorities.

There was a general discussion of the situation participated in by Messrs. Palmer, Hamman, Hubbard, Crandall, Chamblin and Stewart, after which a ballot was taken resulting in six votes favoring and nine opposing a compromise.

Attorneys for the city were instructed to push pending litigation and will proceed vigorously with the case. The case will be argued in Louisville Saturday. Messrs. Corbett and Campbell will both take an active part as it is confidently expected that the whole of the city's contention will be sustained.

The empress Dowager has telegraphed urgent instructions to the local governors to take measures to relieve the distress.

BENGAL TIGER BREAKS FROM CAGE, KILLS GIRL

A Twin Falls, Idaho, special says: The funeral of four-year-old Ruth Rozell, who was killed by a royal Bengal tiger, which escaped from its cage at the performance of the Sells-Floto circus here Saturday afternoon, was held today. Mrs. Rozell, the mother of the child, who was knocked down and badly shaken by the tiger, is recovering with relief and the shock of her experience. Thus far no criminal action has been brought against the circus management, and while the panic of Saturday, following the breaking of the animal from the cage and the ensuing tragedy, are the sole topics of conversation, there has been no demonstration against the circus by citizens because of the unfortunate occurrence.

The tiger charged into the crowd, killing the little girl and a Shetland pony, and maimed several other spectators and ponies before it was shot and killed by a man in the audience. For a few moments there was a panic in the menagerie and women screamed and fainted. The elephants tugged at their chains and trumpeted wildly, and there was a great commotion until the tiger rolled over dead in front of the main entrance.

Hundreds were in the menagerie tent at the afternoon performance, when the time came for feeding the animals. Markel, the tiger, and his mate, Agnes, had been restless for some time. At the sight of the meat, Markel leaped furiously with his jaws on the door of the cage. The door gave way and the tiger sprang from his cage to the neck of a Shetland pony, fifteen feet away.

The tiger's keeper, seized a bar and struck the animal between the eyes. Markel released his grip on the pony's neck and leaped to the back of another pony. The keeper dashed him with the bar and he relinquished his hold on the second pony only to seize a third. An other stiff blow from the iron rod drove the tiger from his prey and he leaped into the crowd.

The tent was well filled and the people fled in every direction, most of them crowding out under the canvas. One woman scrambled to the top of the animal cage and refused to come down until after the tiger was killed.

Shriek cries from the frightened elephants aroused the keepers to further activity. The guns kept by the keepers for such emergencies were seventy-five feet away, and had they been available they could not have been used on account of the spectators.

Women seized their children and dragged them from the path of the maddened tiger, hundreds of little children clung to the skirts of their terrified mothers and scrambled to get away.

Markel headed for the main entrance, forty feet away. In his rush he struck several people with his shoulders, knocking them down.

Mrs. S. E. Rozell, of Ewing Falls, and her little daughter, Ruth, could not escape the tiger's rush, and were borne to the ground. The tiger held Mrs. Rozell with his paws, while his fangs sank into the neck of the child.

J. W. Bell, a Twin Falls blacksmith, was standing beside Mrs. Rozell when she was attacked. His wife and children, too, were with him and at the mercy of the beast. Thrusting his family aside, Bell drew a revolver and opened fire on the tiger at a distance of three feet. When the first bullet hit Markel he yelped and opened his tail against the wall of spectators. The second bullet passed him to the ground. Mrs. Rozell and her daughter, from the grasp of his paws and the third put him on the run.

Bell followed, firing three more bullets into the fleeing tiger as it ran outside the tent. Markel was sorely hit, but he managed to crawl some distance before he collapsed. Recovering his strength for an instant, the tiger turned and started back toward the stampeding spectators. Bell was waiting for the attack, with his revolver reloaded, but the big beast had enough, rolled over, snarling and biting at his wounds, and expired in a few moments.

Meanwhile the news that the tiger had escaped had spread, and spectators continued to flee from the tent, many of them fell or were knocked down in the confusion, but none sustained serious injury.

Mrs. Rozell and her daughter were taken to the office of a physician where everything possible was done for the child. It was found that the teeth of the tiger had frightfully lacerated the neck and breast of the little one, and much blood was lost before the wounds could be closed. The little girl died two hours after, and Mrs. Rozell was removed to her home.

Markel was reputed to be one of the largest and best proportioned tigers on exhibition, and was the pride of the menagerie. He had shown no previous signs of ill-temper, and the management of the circus was astonished at his behavior. Many persons thought the door of the tiger's cage might have been more secure. The keepers and Babe Simpkins, Colored, Was Fined $30 for Snatching Watch of Richardson.

The court continued the warrant over until today. Platt is charged with stealing some corn from the other's house.

Harry Pickett, Seamon Parer and Harrison Coley were all given a postponement of trial until today. They are charged with using profane language on the streets, and also with indecent exposure.

Babe Simpkins, colored, was dismissed of the larceny charge and fined $30 and costs for disorderly conduct. He stopped Charles Richardson, colored, at Ninth and Boyd streets and asked the time of day. When Richardson pulled his watch out Simpkins snatched it and ran away.

To Promote Business

Pittsburg, Pa., June 4.—The American Association of Museums, which was given a preliminary organization at a meeting held in New York last year, today began its second convention at the Carnegie Institute in this city. The meeting will continue three days. Steps will be taken to complete the permanent organization and numerous matters relating to the work and maintenance of the museums will be discussed. Besides well-known scientists and scholars from many parts of the United States there are in attendance a number of representatives of Canada and South America. The object of the association is to promote the welfare of museums, to increase and diffuse knowledge of all matters relating to them and to encourage helpful relations among the museums and those interested in them. It is proposed to ally the organization with the National Educational association.

In Memory of Stain Empress

Vienna, June 4.—Since the unveiling of the Maria Theresa monument in Vienna has not seen a more brilliant spectacle than was presented today at the unveiling by Emperor Francis Joseph of a handsome marble and bronze memorial to his late consort, the Empress Elizabeth, who met death in Geneva nine years ago at the hands of an Italian anarchist. All the available architects and architects were present, and the court of the Hofburg was in full attendance. There were representatives of many foreign powers and deputations from religions and other societies throughout the dual monarchy. The unveiling was performed by his majesty, followed by the national anthem and a salute. The ceremony closed with a Te Deum sung by the Weingartner band.

Yacht Race to Bermuda

New York, June 4.—A dozen great sea birds will spread their white wings to Gravesend Bay tomorrow morning and start for St. David's Head, Bermuda, in an international yacht race that will take the little craft east as the gull flies from Charleston, S. C., and 600 miles from Sandy Hook. The contest is to be held under the joint auspices of the Brooklyn, New Rochelle and Royal Bermuda Yacht clubs and the Motor Boat club of America, and is a repetition of the race held last year for the cup offered by Sir Thomas Lipton. Six schooners, four sloops and two yachts are named to compete. The winner of the race will receive a handsome trophy valued at $1,000.

South Dakota Doctors

Huron, S. D., June 4.—A joint convention was begun here today by the Eclectic Medical society of South Dakota and the State Homeopathic Medical society. Numerous topics of interest to the profession will be discussed during the two days of the convention, but probably the most important matter to be taken up will be the discussing of plans for securing to the two weaker schools of medicine equal rights with the so-called regular school. The eclectics and the homeopaths particularly object to being compelled to pass an examination before a "regular" board in order to secure a license to practice their profession.

Netherlands in Paris

Paris, June 4.—Olga Netherlands opened her Paris season tonight at the Theatre Sarah Bernhardt. During her performance she will appear in "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray," "Madame and Carmel." She will act in English, supported by an English company.

WARMING THE HOUSE.

Three methods are employed in the application of steam and hot water systems: first, direct radiation, in which the heating fluid, either water or steam, is introduced into radiators placed in the rooms; second, direct-indirect radiation, in which a supply of outer air is brought in at the base of the radiator, and indirect radiation, in which radiators are placed in chambers of the basement into which air from without is permitted to enter, and thence passes into the rooms through registers.

The apparatus used for steam heating includes radiators, pipes, controlling valves, and a boiler. The principal methods of piping used are called respectively, the one and two pipe systems. In the one-pipe system steam is supplied to the radiators by one pipe, the condensation passing back through the supply pipe to the main, this main pitches down from the boiler and is connected with the "bleeder," which return the condensation to the boiler. In the two-pipe system the steam, after passing through the radiator, is returned to the boiler by a separate line connected with each radiator. Steam heating has the disadvantage of necessitating a fire hot enough to produce steam before the system will be efficient. The first cost of steam heating, especially the one-pipe system, is considerably less than hot water heating, due to the smaller size of the boiler pipes and radiators used.

Hot Water Heating

The apparatus required for hot water heating is similar to a two-pipe steam system with the addition of an expansion tank, which acts as a safety valve by allowing the water to escape in case of over-pressure. All mains should pitch up from the boiler one inch in ten feet to assist the flow of water. In order completely to drain the entire system, a cock should be provided at the lowest point of the system. In cold weather, if the house is to be vacated, no water should be allowed to remain in the system. As the tendency of hot water is to flow more rapidly in the risers than in the horizontal pipes, gate valves should be placed on each riser in the cellar, so that the supply may be reduced if required. Do not fail to provide a stop-cock on each riser, so that in the event of a leak the one riser in fault can be shut off and drained without disturbing the efficiency of the balance of the system. Radiators should be connected to the supply valve and return elbow by means of unions; the radiators may thus be readily disconnected when desired. With hot water heating the temperature of the house can be perfectly regulated to suit all weather conditions, either by means of the fire in the heater or the valves on the radiators. The only objections that can be urged against hot water are the increased first cost, the danger from freezing (when neglected), the space occupied by the radiators, and the fact that a building cannot be as quickly warmed by hot water as by steam.

Vacuum Heating

In this system steam is used, and pipes are run from air valves on the radiators to the cellars, where they are connected with a device which expels the air and holds the vacuum, thus drawing the steam through the pipes and radiators from the boiler. Special air valves and fitting are required, otherwise the system is similar to steam heating. This system insures the entire elimination of leaky valves, the utmost flexibility of result and adaptability to climatic changes, and the greatest speed in heating with the least attention of operation.

Vapor Heating

In this system the steam pipes are connected with a condensing coil in the cellar and with the smoke flue, thus creating a suction which draws the vapor from the boiler and through the radiators. Special valves are used to regulate the vapor supply to each radiator, and a special apparatus is required in connection with the boiler.

WEAR BLACK TIES WITH SHIRT WAISTS

Near Bell Must Also Be Part of the Mail Carrier's Summer Uniform.

Washington, D. C., June 4.—Letter carriers, desiring to wear shirt waists, must wear dark ties and neat belts. This was determined officially by the postoffice department. A few days ago Postmaster General Meyer received a letter from a mail carrier suggesting that the postal regulations state that carriers when wearing their shirt waists must wear dark ties. It then continued: "I desire very much to know whether the wearing of ties is compulsory for a member of a religious sect, that does not allow members to wear ties at all. Does not the constitution of the United States insure religious freedom to every legal citizen?" Postmaster General Meyer, replying to the communication, said: "Under the postal regulations, if the letter carrier wishes to wear a shirt waist he must also wear a dark tie and a dark belt."

WHAT THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM MEANS.

Omaha, Neb., June 4.—Holding the initiative and referendum law operative Judge Sutton yesterday nullified Mayor Dahman's proclamation requiring the muzzling of dogs. The initiative and referendum law was placed on the Nebraska statute books last year by a populist administration being framed by John O. Yeiser. It requires an vote of the people in each town to place its propositions before the voters. The present democratic city administration submitted the law for the muzzling of dogs to the voters of Omaha and it was adopted. Judge Sutton's decision yesterday, holding the law valid and its adoption by the people of Omaha effective, places Nebraska first among the states and Omaha even ahead of Lincoln in enforcing the latest plank of W. J. Bryan's newest platform. The law was adopted last month by the voters of Lincoln. Under the provisions of the initiative and referendum law no ordinance can become effective without a unanimous vote of the council and until the expiration of thirty days from the date of its passage. The ordinance authorizing the mayor to proclaim an epidemic of rabies and to order all dogs muzzled received ten votes from the twelve councilmen, and the mayor's proclamation was issued the following day. Since the law was submitted and adopted by the voters last fall many ordinances ordering public improvements have been passed by the council with the emergency clause, and contractors are fearful that these also are invalidated. Contracts involving many thousands of dollars are affected, and a test case probably will be taken to determine whether ordinances of this class necessarily come under the provisions of the law.

CANNOT USE OVERHEAD WIRES FOR STREAMERS

CITY AUDITOR REPORTED TO BOARD OF WORKS THAT CAR COMPANY WAS VIOLATING FRANCHISE BY USING OVERHEAD WIRES FOR ANYTHING EXCEPT TO CARRY ELECTRICITY—CONTRACTOR TERRELL GETS SOUTH TENTH STREET CONTRACT—TELEPHONE COMPANY WANTS CITY WIRES MOVED FROM POLES—BOARD OF WORKS MEETING.

City Solicitor Campbell advised the board of public works yesterday during the session of that body that the street car company and other concerns having overhead wires above the public streets had no right to permit circuses, shows, carnivals or other concerns to hang advertising banners, posters, cards, or anything upon the wires. On the solicitor reporting to the board that this was illegal, orders were issued for the traction company and others to discontinue the practice and obey the law.

The company permits circuses and others to hang cloth and paper streamers and banners on the wires, and they are very unsightly, while the franchise the company bought from the municipal government permits them to use the wires only for carrying electricity or supporting the electric wires.

President Wilhelm and Secretary Taylor were the only ones present at yesterday's board meeting. Member George Langstaff being absent.

Bids were opened for grading and graveling South Tenth. Husbands to Elizabeth streets, and the proposals showed that Contractor William Husbands agreed to do the work for 72 cents per lineal foot on each side of the thoroughfare, while Contractor Edward C. Terrell's bid was 47 1-2 cents per lineal foot, each side. The contract was awarded Mr. Terrell.

Contractor Terrell graded and graveled North Nineteenth from Monroe to Trimble streets for the city, and May 19 Secretary Taylor and Member Langstaff of the board of works went over the improvement to see if it was constructed according to plans and specifications. Yesterday they reported to the full board that the contractor had not put enough gravel on the street, the shortage being from 2 1-2 inches to 3 inches at different points. The board decided not to accept the work officially on behalf of the city until the contractor had put down the amount of gravel required by the plans, under supervision of City Engineer Washington.

The mayor handed in the contract he had signed on behalf of the city with Contractor Terrell and Weikel, the former for grading and graveling South Nineteenth and Mr. Weikel for the concrete pavements. He is to place on both sides of South Fourth from Norton to Husbands streets. The contracts were filed away.

When George Robertson, Jr., filled up the low part in his lot at Third and Clay streets. It blocked the natural water course and caused rain water to back up over the private property abutting and also stand in the public alley. Attempts to get the water course opened have been made for some months, and now the city solicitor reported to the board that the interested parties and Mr. Robertson are working on a plan that will be satisfactory to all concerned, if carried through. In order to wait and give them time to work out the problem, the board ordered held in abeyance the question of forcing the water course to be opened.

Mr. Blecker of the traction company was empowered to temporarily repair the street at Fifth and Broadway until the bitulithic people come, when new bitulithic will then be put down where the car company tore up the old when placing its double tracks. The board received the changes authorized along South First street, which are to make the concrete pavement on the West side twelve feet wide and to put one step at First and Broadway and two at First and Kentucky, the First street pavement being several feet higher than those they connect with at Broadway and also Kentucky avenue.

Engineer Washington reported it cost $34.68 to fix the alley behind the Central fire station on North Fourth; $30.75 to put the manhole on South Fourth to relieve the water overflow from Ogilvie's basement, and $155.50 to raise the brick beside the curbing along Broadway from Fourth to Third, in order to give the proper grade and flow away the surface water.

The engineer advised the board that when the concrete sidewalks are constructed on both sides of West Broadway from Sixteenth street to the city limits, that it would be absolutely necessary for storm sewers to be put down to carry off the water. The board handed the engineer's recommendation to the general council for consideration.

A letter was received from the East Tennessee Telephone company requesting the city to move the public electric light wires from the telephone company's poles on account of the heavily charged electric wires affecting the telephone service. The letter was passed to the mayor to be laid before the council.

Superintendent Keebler of the public electric light plant was directed to move the Eleventh and Broadway street corner light to a point fifty feet East of the present location.

Street Inspector Elliott was directed to examine the sidewalk on South Third between Kentucky avenue and Broadway and see if any damage has been done by private parties driving horses and wagons up on the pavement. If any damage has been done the walk acting will be taken.

The brick street in front of the alley opening beside Engert and Bryant's retail grocery on South Second between Broadway and Kentucky has settled to the extent that quite a depression was created, and in this water stands for months at a time, breeding disease-bearing germs. The board of health has notified the board of works to have the street raised there so as to get rid of the water accumulation. Contractor Charles L. Robertson built the brick street, and the board of works passed the board of health's notice up to the city solicitor to see about having the contractor raise the brick work at the point mentioned to the height necessary for the water to drain off to the next manhole.

A letter was received from the casualty company carrying insurance on the city light plant's boilers, this document permitting the boilers to carry 115 pounds of steam.

The board authorized a coverage Inspector Bundesman to employ two men to help look after the boilers, but the inspector's pay roll shows he is employing three men. The board directed its clerk to notify the general council of this extra men added without authority, and the legislative department can do as it likes, reject the third man's salary, or pay him, just as they please.

The engineer was instructed to have moved a big tree that stands on the public sidewalk on South Fourth street near the Smedley home. Street Inspector Elliott notified the board that all the horseshoeing establishments had raised the price for shoeing horses, with the exception of Robertson's place, and the board directed the inspector to have the city's shoeing done at Robertson's in order to get the benefit of the old prices.

Mr. Elliott reported that a car of new sewer pipe had arrived. President Wilhelm made report of permits he had issued for different work since the last board meeting, and his actions were ratified.

WILEY SEEMS IMMUNE TO PHYSICAL PAIN.

Charlotte, Tenn., June 4.—Local surgeons are marveling over the strange case of John Wiley. A few days ago Wiley, while loading a saw log with a pulley block and tackle, got the fingers of his left hand mixed up with the block and the ends of two of them were snatched off. Strange to relate, the injured extremities have never hurt him a particle. He has never used anesthetics of any kind, declare he has not suffered a pain and has kept right along at his work as if nothing had happened.

Physicians say that such a state of affairs is unusual, not to say abnormal, and denotes the possession of a nervous system by Wiley that must be something out of the ordinary, since he is seemingly unconscious of physical pain.

Wiley says he would not fool with having his wounds dressed, if it were not for the fact that he wanted the injured fingers to heal as speedily as possible, so he could be rid of inconvenience occasioned by keeping them tied up in rags.

He was seen this morning in the surgery of Doctor Harper, peeling off the old dressing with as much unconcern as if shucking a canvassed ham, and to all appearances without sustaining the slightest twinges of pain from the operation.

LODGED AGAINST CHIEF OF POLICE

FORMAL COMPLAINT WAS MADE TO THE GRAND JURY.

Prisco Official in Trouble Charged With Tampering With Veniremen Summoned in the Schmitz Case.

San Francisco, June 4.—The grand jury yesterday filed with District Attorney Langdon a formal complaint against Chief of Police Jeremiah F. Dinan, charging him with wilful and corrupt misconduct in office in that he subverted the law in endeavoring to secure the acquittal of a defendant without the knowledge of the district attorney. The defendant in the case was Mayor Schmitz, and the investigation by the grand jury grew out of the accusation of Assistant District Attorney Francis J. Heney that Chief Dinan had attempted to tamper with the foremen drawn for the jury which is to try the mayor on the charge of extortion. Chief Dinan was accused by Assistant District Attorney Heney of having detailed some of his officers to interview prospective jurors in the interest of Schmitz. The chief practically admitted having detailed men to shadow some of the men on the venire, but declared that he did so because he wanted to see that no improper person got on the jury.

Dinan has ten days to answer the complaint.

Munfordville, Ky., June 4.—The case of the Commonwealth against Albert Saltsman for murder was called today in the Hart Circuit Court. This is a special term to try this case. The regular panel was exhausted, nine jurors being accepted, and a special venire was ordered to be drawn from the jury wheel. ARMY DESERTER IS ABOUT TO STIR UP FOREIGN TROUBLE

Gets on Board British Vessel, Whose Commander Refuses to Surrender Him.

Washington, June 4.—Col. Henry A. Greene, of the Tenth Infantry, commanding at Fort William H. Seward, Alaska, has appealed to the War Department to cause the arrest and return of a deserter, and incidentally to punish the Captain of a British ship, who perhaps has created an international issue.

According to Col. Greene, Sergt. Buell, a member of the post band, deserted from Fort Seward, and made his way on board the British steamer Princess May. When the ship touched at Ketchikan, Alaska, May 14, the City Marshal, under instructions from the military authorities, sought to arrest Buell.

The latter locked himself in his cabin, and the Captain of the ship refused to allow him to be forcibly arrested, and sailed away to a Canadian port, where the deserter landed and disappeared.

Col. Greene asks the War Department to have the State Department make a demand upon the British Government for the return of the deserter to Fort Seward, and for the punishment of the Captain.

The acting Judge Advocate General, however, has taken the ground that the military authority has no such authority, and if the effort is made to punish the British Captain it must be through the civil authorities, who were derelict in the first place in not arresting both deserter and the Captain if he resisted, process within Territorial waters.

OKUMA PREACHES WAR AGAINST U.S.

URGES JAPAN TO DEMAND AN APOLOGY FROM THE 'FRISCO MAYOR.

Spirit of Conciliation and Confidence in Washington is Giving Way To Hostility.

Tokio, June 4.—A notable change is taking place in the attitude of the Japanese toward the United States in regard to the treatment of Japanese in California. The opposition newspapers today prominently quote Count Okuma as urging the concentration of Japanese national efforts toward the settlement of what is known as the San Francisco question; that Japan should demand a public apology from the mayor of San Francisco and also that the Japanese should receive treatment similar to that given to Anglo-Saxons in the United States.

Herein lies the sole hope of definitely settling the question. Otherwise, if necessary, demonstrative measures will be taken which it will be impossible to regard as precipitate in the circumstances.

Public is Hostile. The spirit of conciliation and confidence in the good intentions of the Washington government is giving way to positive hostility among the public.

Seven university professors who took a leading part in molding public opinion before the war with Russia and during the period when the peace negotiations were in progress are again bestirring themselves, although this time in the direction of a generally more stalwart foreign policy, including Japan's dealings with Korea and China.

It is stated that opposition by means of public meetings and otherwise soon will begin a campaign against the Saionji ministry on the basis that it is showing itself too conciliatory and too much disposed to make concessions in the matter of persecution of Japanese in San Francisco.

ELEVEN JURORS.

Twelfth One Probably Will Be Secured Before Night.

San Francisco, June 4.—Eleven jurors have been secured to try Mayor Schmitz, and there is a veinerman in the twelfth chair who will be examined as to his qualifications when the trial is resumed this evening. That the remaining juror will be secured out of the eight veniremen remaining of the panel last drawn, is probable, as both sides have exhausted their peremptory challenges and may now challenge for cause only.

In the line of expedition the special prosecutor announced that the actual trial would begin immediately after the jury shall have been empaneled.

It is understood the prosecution will spring a surprise in the shape of the calendars used by the board of police commissioners at the time the matter of the renewal of the license of the French restaurants to sell liquor were before that body. The prosecution claims it will prove by the aid of these calendars that there was a conspiracy, of which Mayor Schmitz and Ruef were the heads, and under which all the license business of the city was programmed by those two indicted defendants. These calendars, it is alleged, contained the check marks and other written instructions of the mayor and Ruef to the police commissioners in respect to the disposition of the applications for license before them.

GRAND JURY INSTRUCTED TO GO AFTER NIGHT RIDERS

Christian County Judge Says They Are the Worst of Lawbreakers.

Hopkinsville, Ky., June 4.—In delivering his instructions to the grand jury today at the opening of the June term of Circuit Court, Judge Thomas P. Cook gave very positive instructions regarding depredations of night riders. The court said that while the reports of these outrages may have been exaggerated there was no doubt that lawlessness in many cases had been resorted to.

The acts of vandalism such as burning of barns, scraping of plant beds and the going about of bands of masked horsemen, he said, was lawlessness of the worst sort, no matter whether done to force farmers to join the association, to keep them out or by the rich or poor, white or black.

Judge Cook also called attention to the fact that it was the jury who is looked to investigate and fix the blame for such acts, and that it should perform its duty so far as possible without fear or favor.

He said that he was heartily in favor of the principles of the association, but no one had a right to use force to compel a man to join or keep one out.
